Eight-Cent Tax Cut Looms In City's Budget

Daly City property tax rate will be reduced 8 cents under the new fiscal budget which comes up for adoption and public hearing next month.

This is the latest word from the city council, which next Monday night will weigh the future of sales tax and set public hearing date on the '58-'59 budget.

City Manager George Watts says the new budget, as it now stands after several study sessions, will allow reduction of the property tax from $1.48 to $1.40 per $100 assessed valuation. Without sales tax, Watts projected, the new budget would require a tax rate of $1.50.

The cut in tax is due, he says, to the use of first quarter sales tax returns, collected from April 1 to June 30.

The council ordinance on sales tax, passed in February, requires that sales tax funds be split, half going to reduce the ad valorem (property tax) and the rest to be spent for capital outlay projects.

Watts said if sales tax continues through this fiscal year, ending next June, the city property tax rate could be reduced to 92 cents per $100—or a 56-cent cut over the present $1.48 rate.

Election Decision?

Future of sales tax here, however, is in doubt, since the council Monday night will be asked to vote on Councilman Edward Dennis' motion that sales tax be placed on the November election ballot for referendum decision of voters of Daly City.

This resolution to county supervisors asking that the sales tax be placed on the ballot is expected to win council approval Monday.

Due to the budget deadline, however, the council has indicated that even should sales tax lose at the polls in November, the levy wouldn't be junked here until the end of the fiscal year, next June. This, they feel, is necessary because eliminating sales tax earlier would cut off funds footing new capital outlay projects in the new budget.

The council in their latest budget study session, Monday, completed review of budget requests by departments, and now is ready to make final decisions on capital outlay timetable expenditures.

The latter include the Westlake library, civic center site, Westmoor park site, south-of-Westmoor fire station, motor pool building for autos and trucks, and a public works warehouse.

Public Works
Biggest department decision Monday was authorization of three new engineers for the public works department. Only Mayor Michael DeBernardi voted "no" on this move, repeating his long-standing claim that

'ACTING' CITY MANAGER HAS GOOD RECORD

Daly City's acting city manager, George Watts, has been here since October last year in the capacity of finance director. He and his wife, Vivian, live at 23 Northgate in Westlake.

Watts is a graduate of the University of Utah and earned his B.A. degree in accounting and business law. He holds a public accountant's license from the state.

Watts was employed as a public accountant for one year in the Los Angeles area and served the city of Glendale as an accountant for five years. He spent five years in Antioch as city controller before coming here in 1957.

He received an award from the CPA society for "the most improved work" in the city of Antioch for his 1954 endeavors.

The 40-year-old finance director was active in getting his department here into the "League of California Cities." This accomplishment came at the convention in Monterey when Daly City was admitted to membership.

Watts is active in Boy Scout organizations and plans to have his son, Richard, 11, join as soon as he comes of age. He is also a member of the Daly City Rotary Club and is secretary for the organization. His hobbies are golf and camping.

Tuesday's School Tax Vote Crucial

Will The Kids Lose Out?

FROM $1.50 TO $2.50?

'Yes' Supporters Try Again For Increase

"Second try" special tax election faces 18,699 eligible Jefferson Elementary School District voters next Tuesday—when they have a choice of maintaining an "austerity" or a "competitive" program.

The precinct showdown involves increasing the tax maximum from the present $1.50 limit to $2.50—a $1 proposition on paper, but it begins with a 54-cent hike for taxpayers. Majority "yes" at the polls will mean homeowners will each pay about $19 more a year in school taxes—or 38 cents more a day.

The current tax rate is $1.63 (adding 13 cents in restricted taxes to the $1.50) and for the upcoming school year, a tax rate of $2.04 plus 13 cents per $100 assessed valuation will be necessary.

The administration and the 250-member citizens' Save-Our-Schools Committee feel that the $2.17 rate is a "must" for the '58-'59 year to accommodate an estimated 1000 new students and to expand services and educational supplies.

The Outlook

If the $2.50 maximum wins Tuesday, the district will get approximately $400,000 more than last school year for its

Pershing School Showdown Meet Scheduled Here

Showdown decision on the half-million dollar loan for the new General Pershing Elementary School site will be made by the State Allocations board here on Thursday afternoon, August 7.

Supt. Henry Weibel learned today that the agency had agreed to rule on the long-delayed loan and that members of the state board would inspect the site—subject of controversy sparked by San Francisco city and county officials.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m. in the Daly City Council Chamber on August 7. Weibel noted that it is unusual for the State Board to meet anywhere but in Sacramento or larger cities like San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Jefferson Elementary School District officials are behind schedule in plans for the school because of SF opposition to the school's "partial" move over the county line caused the State Allocations Board to hold off action on the loan.

Weibel, his staff and the board of trustees had to adjust the original site plan in an attempt to lessen the SF protest. Less than three acres of the school will be on the SF side of the county line. Majority of homeowners on both sides of the line are ready to sell their property to the district to make room for the school.

Weibel said San Francisco representatives have been notified of the State Allocations Board meeting here, but the JESD staff feel no further protests will be aired August 7.

The old Gen. Pershing school on Hanover street is totally inadequate and overpopulated.

SOS Group Sets Big Rally Tonight

SOS committee, pushing "yes" on Tuesday's special school tax election, invite one and all to a giant rally-party this Thursday night at Garden Village school. Festivities start at 8 p.m.

An election-eve car caravan parade will begin Monday night from the Westlake Penney's store parking lot at 7 p.m. operating expenses, 60 per cent of which is from the state. If the tax hike is voted down—as it was last May—the basic $1.50 rate will continue, adding only about $90,000 more in the budget.

Rejection of the $2.50 maximum next week will necessitate cuts in number of teachers to be hired, special services, and will affect transportation funds, summer recreation funds and possibly kindergarten classroom needs.

Passage at the polls will allow the district to maintain a "competitive" program, abandoning what Supt. Henry Weibel and staff call the present "austerity" system.

Persons needing transportation to the polls for the school tax election next Tuesday should call PL 5-2262 (if they live east of Junipero Serra) and PL 5-4782 (if they reside west of Junipero Serra).

By a 3-2 vote of the school board, residents have been "guaranteed" that their taxes will not exceed $2.20 plus 13 cents before 1961 unless they get public approval. In effect, this means that the $2.50 maximum will not be enforced without the approval of voters before 1961.

The provision for a $2.33 ceiling under the $2.50 maximum was won by new trustee

AMOUNT of money to be spent to educate each elementary school district youngster will be lessened if Tuesday's special tax hike election fails. Surrounded by supporters on "yes" at the polls are Steve Passafiume (left of sign) and Mrs. Doris Wimberly, members of the citizens' committee working for the tax increase. The district will remain on an austerity program should next week's balloting produce a majority of "no" votes.

MARCHBANKS PARK FEUD

Veteran Sarto Quits Rec Job In Protest

Veteran city park-recreation commissioner Joseph "Joe" Sarto quit his post Tuesday night, submitting his resignation in protest of the city council's alleged "blunder" in letting the parking lot area fronting Marchbanks Park be sold to a commercial firm.

Sarto, owner of the Villa Sanitarium and sponsor of sandlot baseball the past 17 years, left the board meeting immediately after giving his reasons for resigning.

Fellow commissioners, who urged him to reconsider, said they would refuse to accept the resignation and tabled their decision, hoping Sarto will change his mind.

Sarto charges the city council is "killing off" Marchbanks Park as the city's leading recreation facility by allowing the Southern Pacific to sell its park-adjacent strip of land to concrete contractor Dominic Piccinini, who has plans to put a warehouse there.

City Manager George Watts and Councilman Bob St. Clair, answering Sarto Tuesday, agreed that the Southern Pacific deal with Piccinini appeared inevitable, but both city officials reminded that the city council still can control the operation on the parking lot via zoning restrictions.

Watts, who met with Southern Pacific officials Monday, learned that Piccinini was negotiating for the land at a price of about $30,000. The council earlier heeded the recreation commission request that an attempt be made to purchase the land, but Southern Pacific's asking price—about $29,000—was deemed "too high" by the council majority.

If the council tries to save the strip through condemnation action, the sale price could be even higher.

Sarto said he was informed Monday that the deal was sealed and continued to blame the city for "letting the land go" and cited the hazards that would result to the Marchbanks recreation activities.

St. Clair, angry because Sarto charged the council failed to consider the consequences, said he would see to it that there would be no interruption of the playground activities caused by

'DREAM GIRL' NOD WON BY MISS PACIFICA

Patricia Smith, "Miss Pacifica," Thursday evening was chosen "Dream Girl" of the 1958 San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta over 13 other contestants from Peninsula cities.

Miss Smith, 16, is the daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Clifford H. Smith, 375 Heathcliff drive, Westview. The brown-haired, brown-eyed beauty attends Westmoor High school.

She was chosen by a panel of five judges for her beauty, posture and poise during the brief bathing-suit appearances and was both "shocked and happy" when announced as the winner. She measures 34-23-34.

Miss Smith is to receive a three-costume wardrobe and accessories from Macy's Hillside and the House of Charm will coach her Sacramento appearance in competition for the state fair's "Maid of California" contest.

Mary Cunningham, 17-year-old Daly City queen, also participated in the San Mateo county contest.

WILL CITY HELP OUT?

Merchants Mull Parking

By Lou Lucia

Daly City's Mission street merchants are still wondering if city fathers will "ever" do anything about once-promised off-street parking facilities.

While the merchants' hopes may be just wishful thinking, they are still hot under the collar about the "stabbing in the back" they claim they got from the council seven years ago on off-street parking.

They remember well the city ordinance passed in September of 1950 on parking meters, creating an exclusive fund to secure off-street parking facilities. In May of 1951 the council turned an about-face and killed this ordinance, routing parking meter revenues into the general fund. Thus the merchants' hopes for off-street parking went out the window.

Parking meter funds bring about $20,000 a year profit to the city, projecting above the $19,576 figure here for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957.

Costs Plenty
The merchants, of course, realize that off-street facilities cost money, require land, which is scarce along Mission, and must be acquired in a concerted effort by the council.

Councilman Francis Pacelli of Westlake has been studying the merchants' situation and said he would soon bring it up for council consideration.

Merchants sounded out by THE RECORD had these comments on off-street parking and their present problems:

Co-owner H. A. Bethe of Gerold's Liquors: "The profit was to go toward off-street parking but was used for everything else except this purpose." He added, "There are ills in both meters and extending the time, but off-street parking would be the answer."

Mike Bertolucci, Hilltop Market owner: "Two-hour parking during the week-days would help, but Saturday free parking is not feasible because there would be a 'bunch of sleepers' on the street. Even the merchants would park all day. Meters are murder. People get tagged and won't come back to shop."

"What type of business would want two-hour parking and free parking on Saturdays," George McKenzie of George's Shoe Repair Shop queried. He answered himself, "That would be the worst thing that could happen."

McKenzie thinks that meters help if they are properly administered. He believes that meter time limits should be reduced to half an hour but says that "off-street parking would be a wonderful thing."

Usual Experience
Frank Bisorde, proprietor of Vista Grande Market: "We take phone orders because as soon as a shopper gets a ticket up here, she refuses to come back." He thinks that all-day parking on Saturdays and two hours during the day would influence buyers.

"People start talking to their friends and before they realize

Jeff Hi 'Great' Honeywell Goes To Annapolis

Colma's Jim Honeywell, one of Jefferson High's greatest football players, has won an appointment by Congressman J. Arthur Younger to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland.

The 205-pound blonde athlete will begin classes as a plebe this fall. He has passed all entrance tests.

Named "Player of the Year" in Northern California in 1955 as a Jeff High tailback in the single wing, Jim played freshman fullback at Stanford and sat out his sophomore year due to an injured shoulder.

Jim's brother, Wally, a Stanford senior, is studying in Germany and is expected to return to the Palo Alto campus this December.

The Honeywell family resides at 621 F street, Colma.

"any such commercial firm."
Sarto, claiming that the commercial owner might build a fence right up to the park boundary, said this would render the park inaccessible, depriving our youth of adequate facilities.

The sanitarium proprietor also scored the "lack of cooperation from the council in matters concerning the recreation commission."

Parents and property owners around Marchbanks Park stormed the recent city planning commission when the Piccini proposal for zoning first came up for consideration. Be-set by heavy protest, the planners then recommended the city council make an attempt to negotiate for the property.

But the council ruled the asking price out of the question considering current budget needs and sent a letter to Southern Pacific stating that the city could not afford the expenditure.

Final decision rests with the action of the planning commission at its September 10 meeting, when the Marchbanks zoning issue will come to a showdown. The planners and the council have the final say, in that order, on zoning the unclassified property.

Should these bodies refuse to allow zoning for the Piccini operation, it will become a legal matter to determine how long the city can keep the commercial firm out.

it the hour is up," Bisorde commented.

Braulio Trigueros, Bob's Barber Shop owner, gives the view that meters are bad for business—they keep the people away. "Off-street parking would be good, but where is the room at?" he questioned.

Ed Nienstiel, Daly City Hardware, commented: "Two hour parking on weekdays and free parking on Saturdays would be a step in the right direction." However, Nienstiel said he has been against parking meters ever since the "council slipped them in on us."

"We should have had off-street parking a long time ago," said Tom Bournellis of Daly City Drugs. "Even now people stay all day at a meter. I don't think extended time or Saturday freedom would help. Off-street parking will never come about though as the school board can't even get a tax raise. Lack of money in the treasury is what hurts."

Mel Dubin of Dubins Men's and Boys' Shop came up with a different innovation: "Some cities have free parking in the morning for shoppers—that would be best of all. However, the two-hour meter and free movement on Saturdays would be a part cure."

Shelby Ross, parking meter repairman, said that all meters from Crocker and Flournoy streets heading north to the county line would soon be two hours. About one-third are two-hour meters now, he added. Other meters are one hour, excepting two in front of the city library and two in front of the water office which have 12-minute limits.

Longer Limit

He said these four meters are to provide greater service because of the vast use of these facilities. Doctors and optometrists, dentists, etc., welcome longer periods because of the nature of their business which takes a greater amount of time, Ross added.

Eight meters along East Market street, and San Pedro Road meters will be extended an hour to the two hour limit, he said. He clarified by commenting that one block of meters will have to be changed on San Pedro road.

The meters are enforced from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

the city has had too many administrators and not enough workers.

The council majority, on recommendation of Works Director Otis Calhoun, deemed the three new specialists necessary to meet the backlog of work and new projects of the department.

Status of the city purchaser and the assistant to the city manager will remain the same as DeBernardi's move to eliminate one of the positions was voted down. The mayor again cited the cost to taxpayers for these administrative positions, which he says could be handled at less expense by making a few changes in duty assignments.

'2ND TRY' VOTE FOR TAX HIKE

Tom Noonan, backed by the votes of Frank Verducci and board chairman Joseph Lewkowicz, Veteran trustees Mrs. Katherine Mullen and Michael Callan opposed this provision, claiming they could not bind the decisions of future boards.

Intense Campaign
Tuesday's showdown climaxes the most intense campaign for "yes" votes in the history of school tax elections here.

The SOS group, chairmaned by Arthur Huelse and Martin Orloff, has worked full-throttle to reverse the May 27 election outcome in which the tax increase was voted down, 1365 to 934. Tax maximum asked then was a $2.20 ceiling.

Citizens shortly thereafter became aroused when the school board, on recommendation of Weibel and his staff, despite the failure of the $2.20 rate, called for a second election July 29, asking that the maximum be raised even higher—to $2.50.

Noonan and fellow newcomer Verducci, who assumed office this month, refused to go along with Weibel and staff and the SOS committee until the provision for a $2.20 plus 13 cents maximum was guaranteed voters in asking them to vote yes for the $2.50 ceiling.

2 Autos Collide, But No Injuries

Robert D. Batti, 26, a transmission man for the phone company, and Gertrude E. Greene, 48, an office manager for Employers Group Insurance, were involved in a two-car accident at Templeton and Brunswick streets last week.

Neither was hurt though Batti's car had a damaged front end and the right rear fender of Mrs. Greene's car was crumpled. Batti lives at 451 Templeton avenue and Mrs. Greene at 1124 Prague street in San Francisco.

Police statements said Batti apparently failed to yield the right-of-way.

Jail Jeff Youth For Molestation Charged By Girl

A 16-year-old Jefferson High student was arrested and jailed in Hillcrest Juvenile Home after he admitted molesting an eight-year-old girl in a garage here last Wednesday.

The girl complained to her mother of the boy's advances and the woman called police. At first the boy denied he had anything to do with the girl but then freely admitted the molestation.

Arrest Woman After Injury Auto Accident

Herbert Schilbe, a motorist from Hillsborough, was rushed to Junipero Serra Hospital Wednesday night last week after he was knocked unconscious in a two-car collision at 87th street and Junipero Serra boulevard.

Schilbe was treated for multiple bruises and a possible cardiac condition before being transferred to Peninsula Hospital.

Jeannette Corwin, 30, and Lee Lane, a passenger in the woman's car, both of San Francisco, were arrested. The woman was arrested for drunk driving while Lane was booked on a drunk charge.

She was released on $500 bond and Lane paid $25 bail. Both are to appear in court this Thursday.

'YES' VOTE NEEDED TUESDAY

The time-worn phrase "get out and vote" could never be more appropriate than next Tuesday—a day of decision for Jefferson Elementary School District.

Almost 18,700 residents are eligible to cast their ballots on the tax raise. In May when the first tax election try failed, only 2299 of the then 17,800 eligible voters responded.

In the past two months, the facts backing the $1 tax maximum increase have been established, clearing up the confusion and lethargy which helped to defeat the May election.

First time out, more than 1300 persons voted "no." The new citizens' committee promoting the tax-hike believe at least half of these dissenters have changed their minds.

"Yes" at the polls will cost homeowners on the average $19 a year more. This amounts to about 38 cents a day more than what they are paying now.

If the election for a $2.50 tax ceiling succeeds, the immediate cost to residents is 54 cents more per $100 assessed valuation. Instead of $1.50 they will be paying $2.04.

The school board, even with a $2.50 tax maximum, has officially decreed that the yearly tax until 1961 will not exceed $2.20 unless the public approves. This provision was instigated by trustee Thomas Noonan.

Last May when the district election asked for a $2.20 tax ceiling, the request died, 1365 "no" to 934 "yes."

This letdown, caused chiefly because citizens didn't get all the facts from the administration and its lay committee, marked the first failure of a major school election here.

We hope patrons of the district have enough of the facts this time to ballot intelligently.

And we trust the apathetic response in May at the polls will not be repeated.

Letters To The Editor

Reader Hits School Board On Tax Hike

Dear Editor:

It is indeed disappointing that the new Jefferson Elementary school trustees board, with apparently a great deal of misgiving, has decided to go through with the special school tax election July 29.

The election would allow the district to increase school taxes 66.7 per cent or on an average assessed home approximately $40.00 a year. This huge tax increase is alarming to those of us who would someday like to own our own homes and not have them confiscated by high taxes.

It would seem that the schools should reappraise their spending program to get more out of our tax dollars and start looking critically at costly special elections, fancy services, buildings and salaries.

We hope the voters of the Jefferson Elementary School District will give serious thought to the far reaching consequences of mortgaging our futures and vote against this huge increase in our yearly property tax.

Sincerely,

Supt. Weibel Praises Tax Election News

Dear Mr. Bradshaw:

The board of trustees and the Jefferson Elementary District administrative staff are grateful for the fine coverage and support that is being given to the current tax election campaign in the Daly City Record and the Westlake Times.

The Marchbanks Publications are noted for their interest and support in school affairs. I appreciate the effort that is made by your staff to maintain an objective attitude and thereby respect the opinions of readers of differing points of view.

I personally hope the voters will indicate a preference for the "competitive budget" on July 29. Those of us in the board-administration office have kept faith with the voters in the past by giving effective yet economical administration. We pledge ourselves to continue the same policy.

Sincerely,
H. Z. Weibel

What To Do If Vacation Hazards Hit

Any automobile vacation trip particularly when camping out or hiking, means members of the family will be subject to certain hazards of the outdoors. Some of the more common pitfalls of the vacationer and what to do about them are given by the California State Automobile Association.

Heat exhaustion — Symptoms: Body cold, skin clammy, feeling of exhaustion. Have the person lie down with his head low. Wrap him in a blanket, give him a cup of strong tea or coffee and call a physician.

Sun stroke — Symptoms: Body hot, face dry, person is irritable. Have the person lie down with head elevated. Loosen his clothing and keep him in the shade. Give no stimulants. Call a physician.

Sunburn — If the sunburn is mild, apply olive oil, petrolatum or sun tan lotion. If the burn is severe or victim feels sick, consult a physician.

Sneeze — Call a physician as soon as possible. In the meantime, have the victim lie down and remain quiet with affected limb lower than the rest of his body. Apply a tourniquet above the wound and loosen every 15 minutes. Make "x" cut over each fang mark and permit free bleeding. Do not suck the wound.

Animal bites — Wash under running water with soap. Go to a physician even if the wound is minor.

Tick bites — Ticks spread several diseases. The tick has a small probe on its head which punctures the skin and fastens in the flesh. In removing the tick, be sure the probe does not break off. The tick will withdraw its probe if you hold a hot tick between your bare fingers. Paint wound with an antiseptic.

Split-council verdict ousting HOWARD STITES was matched the same week in Belmont.

That community's city manager, FRED NELSON, tossed in the towel, saying he was returning to private industry.

Nelson's move was accepted with unanimous regret, though he was under fire for what some critics called high spending on city projects.

Albert Home 'Error' Told By Newspaper

THE RECORD regrets an error or misinterpretation in last week's city council story regarding the appearance before the council of Mrs. Mayre Albert of 3 Royce way, Sherman Heights.

Mrs. Albert did not ask the council for damages regarding the back wall and lower foundation of her home, which collapsed and is getting worse, resulting from the heavy rains of January and February.

Mrs. Albert said she merely wanted to know why specifications and plans for the wall and foundation were not submitted by the builder to the city before the Alberts moved into the new home in December of 1956.

George Hopman, city building inspector, admitted to Mrs. Albert and the council that his department has no record of the plans and specifications, as are required by law.

Mrs. Albert says estimates thus far indicate it will cost $11,500 to repair the damage. The builder of the home, Sherman Cornblum Construction Company, has been granted a permit to make some repairs to prevent further damage, the housewife said.

But the contractor says he is not liable for the full damages and the city council claims it also has no jurisdiction.

City Manager Howard Stites told the council the lack of plans and specifications on the home, as charged by Mrs. Albert, constituted "negligence on the part of a city employee."

BROADMOOR BEAUTY

Model Speaks On Role As Housewife, Mother

By Lou Lucia

We interviewed Paula Lane, professional model, singer and actress, and Mrs. Hayden H. Hamilton, housewife, at the same time last week. Actually, they are like the "two faces of Paula," one and the same person.

Mrs. Hamilton is among the 22 per cent of working mothers in the United States. Her husband takes care of the children when she is out on a job. Hamilton has construction equipment he rents and he owns a service station at 88th and Junipero Serra.

As a housewife, she believes that working outside the home has always been the missing ingredient in a successful marriage. "Coupled with a happy home, children, and an understanding husband, it all makes for a well-rounded life," she says. Like so many women, Mrs. Hamilton likes the fascinating world of fashion, thus her reasons for a career in fashion and photography modelling.

Clothes Costly

Even though the wages are terrific in modelling, ($15-$25 an hour), Mrs. Hamilton states that most of what she earns goes to keep up her wardrobe. "I must look the fashion model I am," she declared.

"With all the modern appliances, the care of the house is easy—it's like having a maid. The career girl has better organizing ability and accomplishes more in a shorter period of time. She has a goal, wider horizons and an aim in life, whereas, the non-working wife finds herself in a rut doing routine chores and the home may still look like a waste paper basket with walls," Mrs. Hamilton said.

"A woman is an individual in her own right and my husband realizes that the woman of today not only has the role of home-maker and mother but she has many interests," she commented.

Women should be individuals and wear clothes that can be identified with the person, she advises. For the interview she wore a chic blue suit that was just a shade darker than her blue eyes which was accented by blonde locks. She urges women to walk gracefully as "movements convey mental attitude."

Most Married

Paula Lane said that a majority of the models she knows are married, and have views "similar to mine." She started modelling while still in high school at Star of the Sea Academy.

Her voice had a tint of Marilyn Monroe in it when she gave some of the background she has had in her profession. A double for Kim Novak in "Vertigo," she is a bit more petite than the buxom blonde she "stood in" for. She also had a bit part in "Pal Joey" and commented, "What a change from mopping floors and then having a dinner party with the cast of the picture."

Paula was a Pacific Coast ice skating champion while in school. We didn't ask if it was "figure skating" but she could have probably run off with that title, too. She has appeared on Don Sherwood's TV show and radio program besides being on numerous afternoon video programs.

TULE ELK

The only remaining band of Tule Elk in captivity are at the Tule Elk Reserve State Park in Kern County, 26 miles southwest of Bakersfield, reports the California State Automobile Association.

STYLISH Paula Lane, Mrs. Hayden H. Hamilton, housewife, looks over the family album with her husband and daughters, Marilyn, 3, and Melodie, 5. Paula has been a leading Bay Area professional model for the past two years.

Mae Meierdierks

Mae A. Meierdierks, 69, 238 Wilshire avenue, died Sunday. She is survived by her husband, George W. Meierdierks, and two sons, Earl J. Ebner and George W. Meierdierks Jr. She was the sister of Anna Kemme, Clara Heckman, Mabel Brandt and Blanche Wiler, all of Cincinnati.

A native of Cincinnati, she leaves five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at N. Gray and Company.

Musical Culprits

Music-minded teenagers ran off with a $114 radio-phonograph and $50 worth of records from the home of Barbara Jean Gurali, 247 Los Banos avenue, Wednesday night last week.

Police said she was having dinner at a neighbor's home when she spotted three youths walking from her back door. A yell failed to stop them as they got into a car and drove off.

Garage Fire Costs $750

Defective wiring in a detached garage behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Olsen, 199 Hillcrest drive, last week caused approximately $750 damages and considerable work for 15 fire-fighters.

The blaze started at 10:23 a.m. Thursday. Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy said, "there was so much smoke it looked like the whole city was burning."

Mary Gualtieri Succumbs Here

Mrs. Mary J. Gualtieri, 34, 266 Irvington street, San Francisco was reported dead on arrival at Unipero Serra Hospital Monday. Autopsy results were not known at press time.

Her husband, Ignazio, 41, called police early Monday morning. Mrs. Gualtieri's doctor said she had been under treatment for a chronic lung condition and high blood pressure, though the last time he had seen her was in February.

Hillcrest Druids Meet Next Monday

Hillcrest Circle No. 143, Order of Druids, held their regular meeting Monday with Archdruidess Rita Garabedian presiding. The next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on July 28.

Plans were completed for a whist game to be held at Eagles Hall the same night at 8:30 p.m. A new innovation will be the "gift table" where items of interest to club members will be displayed.

AUTOMOTIVE PRODUCTION United States automotive factories produced 2,681,303 motor vehicles during the period from January 1 through June 28 this year, reports the National Automobile Club. That represented a drop of 1,273,979 from the number of vehicles produced during the same period of 1957.

If our "slightly dewy" weather has you in an unhappy mood a good way to overcome your blues is to go shopping and buy something new. You can't help but be in a more pleasant mood, particularly when you discover some of the fine buys that your local merchants have waiting for you.

Certainly high-style and reasonable too, are the chic new handbags just received by GRANTS . . . the smartly stitched "Italia Hyde" leather bag so right for casual clothes . . . in a wide choice of styles for only $1.98 and $2.98 plus tax. Or perhaps you might like one of the top-grain cowhide bucket bags, in all colors of the rainbow.

All the colors of the rainbow are certainly used in the decorating motif of SAFEWAY'S attractive market in South San Francisco, making the store a most gay and colorful place in which to shop. We were particularly impressed, too, with the large and complete frozen food department, with all sorts of special foods from Mexican to Chinese as well as vegetables, fruits and juices.

Speaking of high-style . . . certainly possessing the "tomorrow" look in furniture are the new 1959 Philco television sets . . . all the way from swivel-screen, to separate screens that can be moved around the room, to slender portables . . . now at PENINSULA TV in Daly City.

Speaking of good buys, if you need a new mattress, we suggest you stop by SUBURBAN HOUSE, 2147 Junipero Serra, and look at the "Golden Sleep" mattress by Sealy . . . tuftless and button-free and beautifully covered in heavy damask . . . two styles on sale at special price of $38.98 and $49.50.

In our shopping tour we discovered that beginning this week PENNEY'S is receiving their shipments of back-to-school clothes. The time will be here before you know it, so to avoid the rush why not drop by when you have a most complete selection.

Speaking of back-to-school—the tricycle set would certainly like a pair of the good-looking shoes that we found at KARLS on sale for a special price of only $2.66 . . . for "little girls" in black or brown and for the little man, a smart black and white saddle.

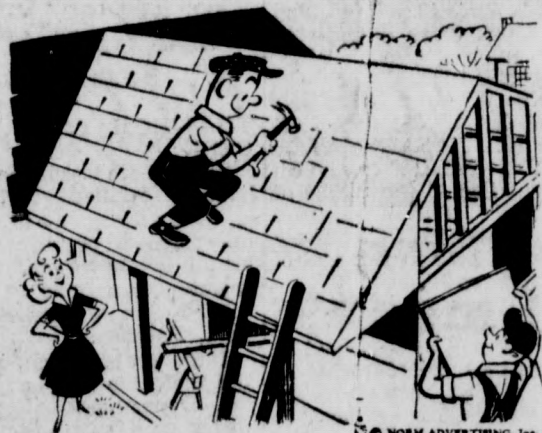

For that "big gent" or man in your life . . . do remind him of the wonderful semi-annual clearance sale now going on at ARTHURS . . . featuring merchandise from their regular stock, with no "special purchases" or nothing "added."

If your car radio isn't working just right, take it to DON'S TV SERVICE located at 2246 Vicente near 34th Avenue. They repair all makes of radios & television.

A word to the wise . . . for good indoor movies you must have lights . . . so we know you will be interested in the wonderful buy that we discovered at WESTLAKE CAMERA . . . a four bar lite complete with lamps, folding compactly into a smart carrying case . . . on sale for only $10.95.

HAROLD Henderson (far right) and unidentified fellow member of the "Great White Fleet" check over uniform changes that have taken place in the last 50 years since their tours of duty. Henderson, long-time Daly City resident, would re-enlist today, "if they would take me." He's 75 years old.

'Great White Fleet' Veteran Reminisces

Harold H. Henderson, 57 Partridge Lane, Daly City, a member of the "Great White Fleet," the first to circle the globe in 1904-08, says he would join the Navy "tomorrow if they'd let me."

Now 75-years-old, Henderson is one of the remaining 46 gobs who made the cruise around the world. Ports he hit included Cuba, Trinidad, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Valparaiso, Caleo (Peru), Gibraltar, Honolulu, Guam, the Philippine Islands, and China Station.

Henderson went aboard the USS Worcester this month for the review of the First Fleet, commemorating the 50th anniversary of the visit of the Great White Fleet to San Francisco.

Sailors Loved Teddy

Harold served eight and a half years and said that the Great White Fleet "showed our sea power at a time when Japan and Russia were warring (1907)."

The sailors loved Teddy Roosevelt, he said. "He was one of our own," he commented. "When he came to San Francisco in 1908 the great 'quake still was showing its effects. The city was half-way built up to Eighth street and Market street wasn't constructed at all," Henderson noted about his return to the U. S.

Besides 36 years as a milk truck driver with a local firm, Henderson put in a year and a half of duty in Mexico—on land. In 1908 there was a fear of war with Mexico and General John Pershing and a force were dispatched to that country. As it turned out, "it was just a sleep in the swamps," Harold declared.

Head Hunters

Some of the sights Henderson enjoyed most were in the Holy Land. He said he saw the original wall on which the Ten Commandments were carved in Bethlehem. In Gibraltar the crew was treated to bullfights; rides on camels and an excursion boat on the Nile were other remembrances.

In the Philippines he recalls a number of the crew members walking around with heads on platters, "gifts" from the hunters.

Henderson's highest rank was Acting Chief.

He is a past commander Old Glory Post 244 (1941)—a member of the reserve force here and resides with wife, Sophie, next door to daughter, Mrs. Mary Tabor. He also has a son, James.

In spite of his willingness to join again, Harold says he has a hard time of getting along in the modern Navy. "The sailor of today and of day are as different as night and day," he declared. "To they wear shined shoes, carry wristwatches and ceras. We couldn't."

No Fresh Food

We had to salute a ti class petty officer," Henderson recalled. "A day's rations one man (three meals) would average three and one-half cents per day in my time, though of course we did have all the 'fancy' dainties they have today."

"The best foods we could were hash or fishing off side of the ship to catch 'em," the old seaman commented. "We couldn't have fresh foods aboard ship at time."

Everything was written pig-skin in the old Navy—day it's on paper. "You'd burn pig-skin," he reminded Henderson said he had enough memories to fill whole newspaper.

Of this we have no doubt.

DC Drug Baseballers Stretch Win Streak

Daly City Drugs nailed down first place in the first half of Sunday League play by nudging Dee's Associated, 1-0.

Terry Christman fanned the Associated right fielder with two outs and runners on second and third base in the last frame to preserve his shutout and team's unbeaten skein at five games. Big John Morris had two of the losers' three hits. Two errors and a single in the first inning made Paul Yeager the losing pitcher.

Fun For All

PLAYGROUNDS ASK PARENTS TO 'FAMILY NIGHTS' NEXT WEEK

The Daly City Department of Parks and Recreation has come up with a new twist this summer—a program of family nights scheduled at the playgrounds.

Parents are invited to join their children for an evening of fun. Some of the playgrounds have the event scheduled for Monday, July 28, and the others for Tuesday, July 29. Children should see playground leaders for more information.

War Memorial, Edgewood and Marchbanks playgrounds will join together for this event. These three sites will have their family night programs at War Memorial Community Center on Monday, July 28, 7 to 9 p.m. The program will include a father-son softball game, a mother-daughter volleyball game, and for the less active, there are quiet games. Refreshments will be served.
